Introduction: Why This Content, for This Group?

Developing content for the Baby class (ages 3 to 6) plays a major role in children's overall development, since this stage is when motor, cognitive, social, and emotional skills are being built. Through carefully planned activities, we aim to build coordination, discipline, respect, confidence, concentration, and interaction with peers.

Following an age-appropriate methodology allows learning to happen safely and playfully, respecting each child's own pace, and contributing to their growth both on and off the mat.

How the cyclical format works The curriculum for this age group follows a cyclical format, applied and reviewed every 3 months, with techniques and fundamentals organized on a quarterly basis. Each cycle repeats 3 times throughout the year — so children revisit the same content at three different points, which reinforces learning retention at this age.

CYCLE 1

🔄 Repeats in: January · May · September

Week 1 — Control and Defense

- Double leg takedown
- Takedown defense (sprawl)

Week 2 — Back Control

- Back take from turtle position
- Back submission

Week 3 — Positional Defense

- Back control defense

Week 4 — Application and Review

- Drills covering the positions worked on during the month

🔄 Repeats in: February · June · October

Week 1 — Guard Entry

- Guard pull:
 - Foot on hip
 - Sitting guard pull with grips
- Guard recovery work

Week 2 — Closed Guard

🔄 Repeats in: March · July · November

Week 1 — Takedowns and Submissions

- Osoto Gari
- Armbar connected to the takedown

Week 2 — Passing Control

- Side control
- Knee on belly transitioning to mount

Week 3 — Mount and Submissions

- Harai Goshi
- Submissions from mount:
 - Armbar
 - Americana
 - Choke

Note: Submissions should be introduced according to each child's progress and ability to absorb the techniques, and may be split across different classes.

Week 4 — Takedowns and Back Control

- Snap down (takedown)
- Back take from turtle position with submission
